thing like a free hand. The goats, which are supposed to be limited to certain districts, now sometimes wander in among the plantations, and the gamekeepers appear to have acquired a license to denude the hills of all the undergrowth. Emboldened by these facts, wandering vagabonds and mischievous squatters roam on the hill-sides climbing the trees, in which they break numerous branches, leaving them hanging attached, to be collected hereafter, when they can be safely carried off as dead wood. This has become quite an industry, and the forest rangers are unable to stop it, because the Magistrates will only convict when it is proved that the wood has been freshly cut, whereas it is always apparently old and almost invariably broken. Numbers of Chinese loafers and ragamuffins engage in this occupation in the woods above the Kennedy and Bowen Roads, and are often pursued by the constables stationed on these popular walks, but seldom with success, as the constables always know the hills well, and are able to make their way down into the town at a pace which outstrips the heavily laden European or Indian, who is also reluctant to go far of his best. The presence of these fellows in the vicinity of roads used so extensively by ladies and children is, too, most undesirable, as they are ready at any favourable opportunity to do a little highway robbery. Indeed one or two cases of the kind have occurred and more would have taken place probably but for the known propensity of the Police. No doubt it is a good thing to allow the gamekeepers to clear up some of the undergrowth in the vicinity of the town, as to prevent a too dense growth and possible malaria from decaying vegetation, but this should be done on some system, certain districts being let to known and responsible persons for a purely nominal sum, but with a guarantee that they would not only abstain from injuring the trees but also act in some sort as scouts for the Agriculture Department. These persons only should be allowed to collect dead wood, and suspicious characters caught breaking branches or otherwise injuring growing timber should be summarily punished. How extensively this form of damage is carried on can be seen by the most casual observer walking along the Kennedy Road. Scarcely a tree can be found that has not been mutilated, and in many instances what would have developed into elegant trees have been quite ruined by ill usage. All this is disheartening to the Agriculture Department, which possesses only a small staff of forest rangers, who are paralysed in the presence of such wholesale destruction.

The Jui Shimpoo, a Tokyo歌舞妓, paper.
—That the Jui Shimpoo, the railway between Tokyo and Tashim, which has been giving the writer considerable trouble, is to be commenced from May next.—I should like very much to see official confirmation of this report.

A Chimalo correspondent of the Japan Mail writes:—Col. E. H. Cumming and Major J. G.
Atkinson, formerly of His Majesty's Military Service, but now engaged in a most active course of their studies in the Korean Government, have finally reached a settlement satisfactory for the present, and the two gentlemen leave by the steamer that carries this letter.

We are pleased to hear that it is very probable that Mr. Kinghorn will not lose his finger by his accident at the late fire, as was at first suspected. The finger was torn from the socket and was hanging only by a piece of skin, but Major Atkinson, who replaced the finger and dressed it, is of opinion that it will not be necessary to take it off and that Mr. Kinghorn may recover partial use of it.

We understand that it was the intention of Mr. Milne and his Company to have given a representation of Bulwer Lytton's "Risaloon" on Monday night, but as the mail steamer will not leave for Shanghai on Monday they will be unable to give more than the performances of the Lady of Lyons and the Queen of Sheba.

The former will be specially undertained, and the latter a grand naval night under the patronage of Admiral Richards and there will no doubt be crowded houses on both occasions.

Honourable Mr. Fielding Clarke, Justice of the Peace, yesterday morning by the French mail, made six months' leave of absence. We regret to hear that he was suffering from indisposition, but trust that nothing will prevent his return to the Colony upon the expiration of his leave. Mr. Fielding Clarke's absence is much regretted, as he had previously made an able contribution to the judicial branch and during the time of his absence, the services of the Crown have been greatly missed.

of the Peace, he will be much pleased to see
